Security Waivers for Engineering Aides, FBIS

1. For installation of technical equipment at each of its three new monitoring stations now under construction on Cyprus, at Hedgecock, Maryland, and on Okinawa, FBIS requires the services of three Engineering Aides, SP-6. Seven of the required nine personnel have been entered on duty with provisional security clearance. Duties are technical in nature, and the employees are not required to handle material classified above "Restricted."

2. To fill the remaining two positions for the Okinawa project, FBIS has selected the following two applicants:

The services of both are required at the earliest possible date. Recent suspension of provisional clearance procedures makes it necessary that security waivers be requested for the applicants.

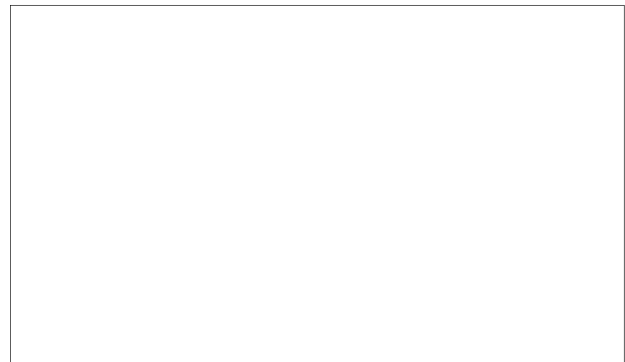

3. It is therefore requested that a security waiver be granted each of the above-named appointees at the earliest practicable date, or that an exception be made to the rule against provisional clearances in this particular case.
